Novel Contest Is Inaugurated

School students will not be allowed to compete against the grades, but will be in a separate class.

The contest will be divided into two classes. In the first class no one but high school students will be allowed to compete; in the second class no one but grade pupils can compete. Like awards will be given to each division.

All letters must reach the Chamber of Commerce, Klamath Falls, not later than 12 o'clock on the noon of December 1st. The announcement of the winners and the awarding of the prizes will take place December 31st.

The number system of judging will be used, so that no judge will know to whom the letter belongs at the time it is being graded. The names of the judges will be announced in the course of a week or so.

The time to get busy is now. It doesn't make any difference to whom you write. If you want to tell President Wilson about the good things of Klamath county, that's all up to you. It isn't likely any letter will be re-mailed, unless it be by special request of the writer.

Mail your letters to the Chamber of Commerce. All of the Klamath county newspapers are interested in ascertaining the best letter writer, and the letters will be published in these papers.

Fort Fair Is the Best of Them All

In the agricultural department there was a creditable display of hardy vegetables, grains, grasses and forage crops. Excellent honey in the comb and strained, attested the fact that the Wood River Valley is adapted to bees. The schools also had splendid exhibits.

The fancywork department was one of the most attractive at the fair. There was all manner of women's needle work art displayed, including some almost priceless pieces from 75 to 150 years old.

The residence of Harvey Scott, five miles north of Fort Klamath, burned to the ground Saturday morning at 4 o'clock. Mr. Scott was not at home, but was in the mountains as a guide to a party of hunters. Mrs. Scott and two grown children, with Dr. Griffith and Mrs. Griffith, who were guests, were in the house. Fifteen minutes after the discovery of the fire the house collapsed, so the inmates barely escaped with their lives and with but little clothing.

A few sacks of flour was all that was saved. A new piano and all furniture was lost. There was no insurance. Some mail for government road camps was burned.

Mr. Scott's residence is known as the Wayside Inn. It is the last stopping place north on the road to Crater Lake. Mr. Scott had enlarged his place this summer for the accommodation of the traveling public. His loss is heavy. Relief funds and supplies were immediately raised by the people of Wood River.

Both Sides Are Rushing More Men

Pressure against the Germans is increasing at various points, and it is predicted that the Germans will soon retreat to Belgium. Intercepted German wireless messages indicate that Germany is near the end of her resources.

The fight along the center is not changed. Both armies are firmly entrenched. The crown prince is retreating from Woerw and the French advances from Toul and Nancy have counselled the enemy to lift the siege of several forts along the Meuse.

No Time for a Tax, Is Opinion of Mann

(Herald Special Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 5.—

"With the industries of the country largely paralyzed and labor out of work, it is no time to impose additional taxes, and taxes, too, which are entirely unnecessary," declared Jas. H. Mann, republican minority leader of the house of representatives, in a statement today.

Congressman Mann's statement is regarded as an important utterance, in view of the fight the republican minority is making in both house and senate to prevent the democratic majority from imposing a so-called "war tax" on the people. In addition to their other burdens of taxation, at a time when this country is at peace with all the world.

"There is no need to put new taxes on the people at this time," Mr. Mann asserts. "While there may be a slight falling off in customs receipts during the European war, that can easily be more than met by proper governmental economy. The war in Europe may be over soon, and the treasury can meet the expenses of the government without difficulty for a long time to come, if it draws on the government money now deposited in the banks. Much of the money already appropriated need not be used for the present, if the president will direct the departments to practice economy. There are many things that can wait over. Temporary delay in many cases will be no injury.

"For the seven months of this year ending with July 31, before the war began, our imports from foreign countries were $122,000,000 more than they were for the same period last year, while our exports were $126,000,000 dollars less. That is caused by the Underwood tariff. The balance of trade in our favor for these seven months in this year was $60,000,000. For the same seven months last year, the balance of trade in our favor was $200,000,000. This shows a falling off in the balance of trade in our favor in seven months before the war commenced of $140,000,000. That is equivalent to a demand on us of $140,000,000 in gold. That is one of the main troubles with the country now, and is the result of the new tariff law.

"If we were manufacturing the goods we use, instead of importing them, we would have prosperity, and if we had a sufficiently high import duty on the goods we bring in from abroad, we would have sufficient revenue without question. What we need now is economy and not new taxes. What we have under the democratic administration is extravagance and additional taxation."

Another Complaint Is Filed by Ambrogetti

A second amended complaint has been filed in the circuit court by Tommasi Ambrogetti, who is suing the Big Basin Lumber company and Justice of the Peace E. W. McGowan for the recovery of $50 and $200 damages. And this morning a demurrer to the latest complaint was filed by Charles F. Stone, of Stone & Gale.

Ambrogetti is his own attorney in this action, and he makes some strong statements in his latest complaint. He is suing to recover $50, which was due him from H. Madsen, but which was taken by the Big Basin Lumber company on a prior judgment against Ambrogetti.

Ambrogetti says he hastened to the office of the justice of the peace, and tion order being made and that he obeyed it faithfully; but the attorneys for Brandenburg contended that Reed was not under any obligation to obey the order because he was not served with it by the sheriff and was not in court on the day the order was made.

The circuit court ruled to this effect, and took the case away from the jury.

The supreme court, however, has taken a different view of the matter, and holds in substance that where a defendant in an injunction suit has actual knowledge of the issuance of an injunction order he is bound to obey it, and in a proper case has action against the bondsmen for damages which must be submitted to the jury.

The case will have to be retried in the local court.

State Secretary Coming.

C. F. Swender, state secretary of the Christian church, will be here Sunday to begin a series of nightly meetings. These will continue for two weeks. The anniversary of the church will be observed October 17, and great preparations are being made for this by the local congregation.

Back Home Again.

Hugh Clifton has returned from a combined business and pleasure trip in California. Clifton said he could have made a hundred different trades for California ranch property for his ranch property, but says that so long as he has a ranch he would rather have one in Klamath county than any other place.

He said that as soon as the war is over congress should pass a resolution directing the president of the United States to open up negotiations with the great powers of the earth for disarmament by percentage. He does not expect any great nation to disarm while others are armed to the teeth.

BROWER SECURES CASE REVERSAL

REED VS. BRANDENBURG IS REFERRED BACK TO CIRCUIT COURT FOR TRIAL BY THE SUPREME COURT

C. C. Brower returned last evening from a trip to Salem, Portland and Astoria on legal and other business. At Salem he won for his client, Mr. Reed, the case of J. B. Reed against C. K. Brandenburg on a point which had not before been directly decided in this state.

Reed had brought an action against Brandenburg upon his injunction bond for damages in a case in which Brandenburg had brought an injunction against Reed, and which was afterwards shown to be without sufficient grounds and was dismissed. In the present action on the bond it was shown that Reed knew of the injunction order being made and that he obeyed it faithfully; but the attorneys for Brandenburg contended that Reed was not under any obligation to obey the order because he was not served with it by the sheriff and was not in court on the day the order was made.
